

Frontiers in Cardiovascular Science

Tuesdays 12 noon, Falk Building library (2nd floor)

April 6 th	Mark Kay MD Stanford University	Gene and RNAi based therapeutic strategies for treating human disease
Fri, April 16 th	Martin Maron MD Tufts Medical Center	Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy at 50 years: A contemporary approach to diagnosis and management
April 20 th	Bette Phimister PhD New England Journal of Medicine	How to Get Your Paper Published
April 27 th		No Conference
May 4 th	Mark Hlatky MD Stanford University	Evaluation of cascade screening for long QT syndrome
May 11 th		No Conference
May 18 th	Euan Ashley, Atul Butte, Hank Greely Stanford University	Patient zero: the 8 th human genome and the rise of genomic medicine
May 25 th	Kiran Khush MD Stanford University	Genetic Influences on Thoracic Organ Donation
June 1 st	Eric Schadt Pacific Biosciences	Multi-tissue networks perturbed by variations in DNA elucidate the complexity of heart disease
June 8 th	Andrew Fire MD Stanford University	Living with diversity in repertoires of immune effectors
June 15 th	Bin Zhou MD Albert Einstein College of Medicine	Endocardial origin of coronary arteries: a new perspective in heart disease and regeneration